THE LIST ML

2026 TOP MOUNTAIN BUILDERS

We applaud the talented firms on the 2026 ML Top Mountain Builders List, compiled from recommendations we received from our readers, photographers, vendors, architects, designers and staff.

Each year, the list grows with additional bespoke builders working in the Rocky Mountain West. Keeping our readers in mind, we've organized the list to be user-friendly, with businesses listed by state and town; firms with multiple locations are listed by their primary location. Professionals featured in Mountain Living during the past two years receive a special highlight that mentions their most recent projects in the magazine as of March/April 2026. Firms who have been featured in the past two years but are located outside of Mountain Living's territory are grouped together at the end of the list.

Reclaimed barnwood was a central design element in this Ketchum, Idaho, home. Sourced from a supplier in California's Marin County, the wood had "an incredible amount of character," the builder said.

This Red Lodge, Montana, home was updated with new steel windows and a glass-walled entry. Rustic materials, including reclaimed barnwood and stone, lend a rustic appeal.

Perched on the banks of Mission Creek on a family ranch, this Livingston, Montana, home is a peaceful sanctuary. The home's roof has generous eaves for protection from the elements, and western red cedar siding harmonizes with the landscape.

This Park City home's defining feature is a dramatic double-level glass stairway visible upon approach, which was inspired by the homeowner's love of Frank Lloyd Wright's architecture.

HARDMAN BUILDING GROUP
Park City, Utah

An old-school Scandinavian chalet in Jackson Hole was remodeled into a contemporary classic. The project took five years to complete and included removing a fireplace in the great room and its chimney that spanned three stories. The result is an open and bright home made with breathtaking views of the valley from every single room.
